

What does health care reform mean for INDIAN COUNTRY?

The new health care reform law permanently reauthorizes the Indian Health Care Improvement Act, which expired in 2000.

- Modernizes delivery of health services in Indian Country
- Fulfills the government's trust responsibility to provide adequate health care
- Improves access to quality care for all American Indians in Montana

Health care is strengthened across the board.

Eases enrollment in Medicaid and Children's Health Insurance Program for American Indians

Better access to coverage.

American Indians will be able to choose their own providers, including tribal health providers and the Indian Health Service

---

HEALTH CARE REFORM

- No more dropped coverage for illness, injury or pre-existing conditions
- No more unaffordable health insurance rates
- Hundreds of billions of dollars saved over the long run
- Slowing runaway health care costs
- Zero tax increases for 95 percent of Americans
- Better efficiency in health care
- Stronger Medicare
- Veterans' and military benefits completely protected

More information online at: tester.senate.gov/health

"We're now moving forward to fix our broken health insurance system."

– SENATOR JON TESTER